

Jeannette Noltenius

Dr. Jeannette Noltenius is recognized nationally as a leader in the field of Latino and minority health; and an expert in tobacco and alcohol policy issues. She is also known internationally for her work with the Pan American Health Organization on health planning, human resources, environmental health and HIV/AIDS. An immigrant from El Salvador, she obtained a Master of Arts degree in Counseling Psychology from Antioch College, in Keene, New Hampshire, and then a Masters in Economics and a Doctorate in Social Sciences from the University of Paris 1, Sorbonne, in France. Dr. Noltenius has worked in Guatemala, Honduras, Costa Rica, Panama, Colombia, Ecuador, Haiti, Guyana and France. She speaks Spanish and French.

Dr. Noltenius is currently the National Director of the National Latino Tobacco Control Network, Latinos Unidos Sin Tabaco.

Dr. Noltenius is a founding member of the Out of Many, One a multicultural coalition working on a common agenda to achieve health equity.